A New Wave in Outdoor Design

The Huntley collection, by Ann Marie Vering, redefines outdoor luxury through the art of juxtaposition. Inspired by the movement of the ocean, adorned with sweeping curves, wide interlaced straps, and sculptural metal detailing, Huntley's modular seating system design offers an opportunity to build beauty with intention, encouraging environments that flow as beautifully as they function.

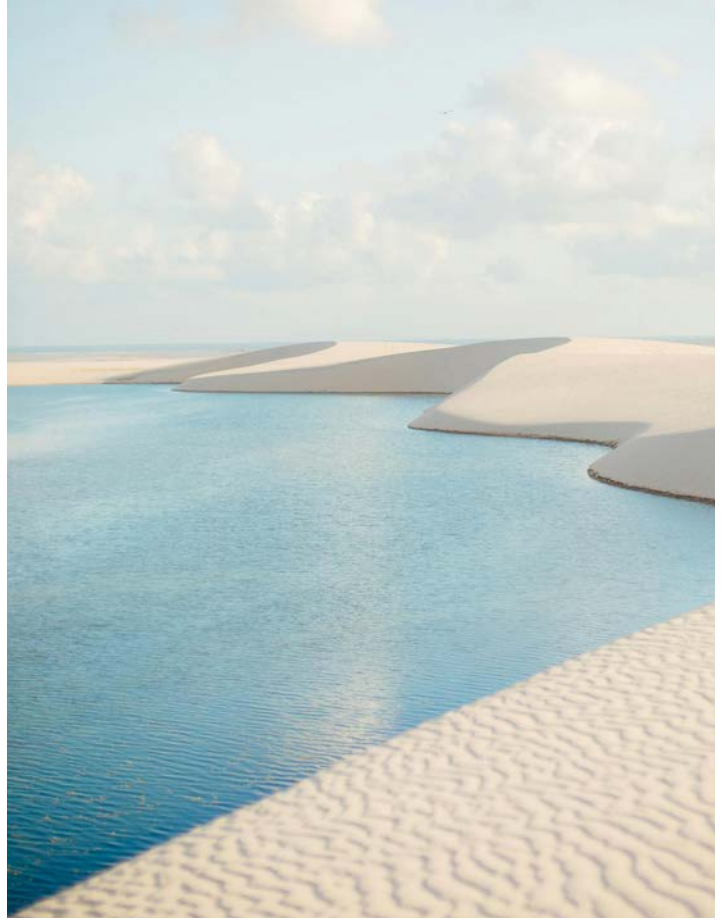

Meticulously Crafted

Designed to be both visually captivating and supremely comfortable, the attention to detail extends to every radius, every line, and every curve creating a collection that balances industrial design principles and elegant artistry.

A Balance of Softness and Structure

The Huntley collection beautifully embodies Ann Marie Vering's design philosophy, seamlessly balancing refined simplicity with functional practicality ensuring lasting durability.

Thoughtfully designed details unfold at every turn, lending Huntley an understated sophistication and enduring style for years to come.

“ Huntley is about achieving the perfect balance between form and function, ensuring the design is both visually appealing and purposeful. I strive to understand what customers want—something cool and beautiful—while also recognizing that a simplified look is essential for creating a serene outdoor oasis. Function should never overshadow beauty. The powder-coated aluminum provides durability without bulk, offering a lightweight yet weather-resistant foundation. Meanwhile, the custom strapping adds a distinctive touch, combining style with resilience.
